The Funeral Mass will be on Tuesday, July 23, at 10:00 am, at St. Mary's Cathedral, 1111 Gough St., San Francisco. All are welcome to attend. The funeral liturgy will be livestreamed on the Archdiocesan YouTube channel. May his soul rest in peace!

Where there is death, there is also life. Our outgoing principal Natalie Cirigliano gave birth to a son, named Cornelius Timothy Jr, after his father, but they fondly call him “CJ.” Welcome to the world CJ and congratulations to the new parents Natalie and Neil Brosnan.

Teacher: How old is your father?
Kid: He is 6 years.
Teacher: What? How is this possible?
Kid: He became a father only when I was born.

(Logic: Children are quick and always speak their minds.)

Congratulations also on our victory opposing SB 360 that threatened the sanctity of the seal of confession. SB360 has been withdrawn from committee and will not be addressed any longer during this Legislature session in Sacramento. This is a tremendous success, thanks to the efforts of pastors and parishes, as well as the Office of Human Life and Dignity staff.

Congratulations also to Ryan Quock, who was elevated to the rank of Eagle Scout. Ryan is a part of our 9:30AM Family Choir and he plays the ukulele. He initiated and engineered the landscaping and beatification project at our Grotto of our Lady.

Another beautiful thing is happening to our parish this Tuesday. We are going to officially start our Home Grocery Deliveries, in partnership with the SF-Marin Food Bank. This is our concrete way of responding to the needs of the poor, regardless of their race and belief. As a start, we are going to deliver the groceries to 15 households in our Sunset neighborhood. We thank Louis Chan, our HG Deliveries coordinator and Paul Roscelli, our Parish Pastoral Council chair, for their leadership. We welcome volunteers to bag the groceries and deliver them. Let us know if you are interested.

May the Lord grant us a peaceful mind enough to freely guide the lost; a happy heart enough to care for the needy. A healthy body enough to serve and protect the weak; wealth that is enough to feed and clothe the poor and a steadfast faith that continues to grow closer to You. Amen!

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

There’s a different pace to a summer Sunday, yet we persist in gathering, even with so many breaks from the usual routines. We distance ourselves not only from routines, but from schedules and familiar well-worn paths. These are playful days and contemplative days. We see long-lost friends and visit almost-forgotten places. We have more leisure than any people before in the history of the world, and we need it because our lives are so care-worn and tiring. More of us walk barefoot and look up at the stars or dip our toes in the lake or sea, sing around campfires, read novels on the beach, and eat comfort food with our fingers. We see how beautiful life can be, and are more aware than usual of how God is always breaking in with signs of love.

In Genesis today, Abraham and Sarah practice hospitality to their visitors, who turn out to be God dropping in. During the summer months, God practices hospitality in return, inviting us into a season of celebration. Keeping Sunday holy is a good habit to cultivate in these days when our spirits are especially receptive to God’s deep desire for us to know divine love.

A Texan rancher, a New York stockbroker, and a woman lawyer from Detroit died and were standing in line, waiting for their chance at the entrance to Heaven.

Saint Peter called the rancher first. "We have only one simple requirement for entrance here," St. Peter said, "You must spell 'God'." "Easy enough," said the guy from Texas, "G-O-D." And he entered Heaven.

Next, Saint Peter called the man from New York. "We have only one simple requirement for entrance here," he said. "You must spell 'Czechoslovakia'." "No problem," said the stockbroker, "G-O-D." And he went in.

Finally, the woman lawyer approached Saint Peter. "Good riddance to the world," she said. "My whole life, I've tried to excel in a male-dominated society, only to continuously bump into the proverbial 'glass ceilings' at every point. I can't tell you, Saint Peter, how glad I am finally to be rid of male chauvinism."

"Well, you'll certainly find none of that here," said Saint Peter. "I'm sure you'll enjoy heaven, if you can meet this one simple requirement for entrance. You must spell 'Czechoslovakia'."

One of the things I find reassuring about today's Gospel is that the Church seems to have been wrestling with women's leadership since the very beginning. It's the issue that will not go away.

When it comes to interpreting scripture, I am always pleased that I'm a Catholic. We're not fundamentalists or literalists. We believe that the truth of the scripture lies not just in the words themselves, but also in the careful interpretation of the text in history. The story of Martha and Mary is a complex narrative. It can be read on at least two levels.

The first level is extraordinary enough: it focuses on Mary who assumes the position of the Rabbi's student and is defended against any attack on her right to be there. In first century Palestine, Jewish women were "not permitted to be taught the Torah, but only instructed about how they should live their lives in obedience to its demands. They were not permitted to touch the scriptures nor to take part in public debate or official liturgical ritual." (Fitzmyer, Luke p.892) From this context we can see the sort of freedom Jesus envisaged for women, against the practice of his own day.

On another level, however, this story focuses on Martha. The writer of Luke's Gospel tells us that we are in Martha's home and, that with Jesus as special guest at table, she is serving the members of her household with care and devotion. Martha comes across as strong and outspoken. Mary, meanwhile, is passive and silent. It is likely this story is criticizing a call in Luke's community for women to move away from the leadership Jesus gave them and to adopt again the traditional roles to which the Jewish/Christians were more familiar.

At the Vatican on May 21 2000 the Pope told a group of Bishops from the USA: "The genius of women must be ever more a strength of over half our community. May we learn from the earliest communities of Christ's disciples."

To that end today's story from such a community holds a key to our own dilemma. Just as Jesus broke through the gender boundaries of his own day, so too must we. We must renew our commitment to ending anything that degrades, exploits or dehumanizes women throughout the world.

But more, it's time for the Church to take some strong symbolic and practical steps to defend the leadership of women within our own Catholic community. For example, Church teaching does not stand in the way of readmitting lay people, and this time lay women, into the College of Cardinals; women could continue to assume high profile positions in each Diocese and also leaderships roles within the Roman Curia, starting with those departments...
