Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life within you.
— John 6:53
We're almost there!
Our school retrofit project is almost done.
The schoolyard has been cleared of equipment and cleaned. I am looking forward and getting excited for our parishioners, and visitors as well, to be able to park inside our school yard again.

Summer vacation is almost over and we are almost there, ready for another exciting school year. And just before the school year starts, our parishioners Justin and Julie Quock’s son, Ryan, will be doing his Eagle Scout Project, redoing the landscaping of Our Lady’s Grotto this weekend. He will be directing fellow scouts from his Troop 17 to complete this project. He picked this project because he wanted to give back to his community.

We are almost there also with our Archdiocesan Annual Appeal (AAA). We only need $12,980 to complete our goal. Holy Name of Jesus Church’s assessment is $66,137. I am hoping and praying that we can surpass the assessment again, even if it is higher than last year, so that we can use the extra money in the parish. I am always grateful for your support of the Annual Appeal. It is one tangible sign of the unity of our Archdiocese. Through the Appeal we are able to support valuable ministries that no one parish can sustain on its own, and we are able to provide the services of the central offices. We are almost there, so please help us!

A guy’s wife is pregnant and getting cravings for unusual foods. One day she decides she just has to have snails and sends him to the store to get some. He goes downtown to the fancy seafood store and buys a bunch of live snails for making escargot. They put the snails in a paper bag and tell him to get home quickly as the bag may not last.

On the way home, he passes the local bar and one of his friends sees him and invites him in for a drink to celebrate in expected new birth. One thing leads to another and the guy ends up staying until closing time and getting quite inebriated.

Finally, he proceeds on home. Just as he is walking up the front steps two things happen. One, the bag finally breaks and the snails all fall out on the walk and, two, his wife opens the door and starts yelling at him and demanding to know where he has been and why it has taken so long for him to get home.

The guy looks at his wife, then at the snails, then at the wife and then at the snails again.

"Come on guys" he says to the snails "We're almost there.
Just a few feet more."

Our eternal destiny hangs on 5 points of our lives:
What our hands do;
Where our feet go;
What our lips say;
What our mind thinks; and
What our heart desires.
It is our duty to be better today than what we were yesterday!
You’re almost there!
Lectio Divina

Read:
The theme of discerning runs through the readings today. Wisdom calls us out to take the path of discernment. Paul invites us to understand the will of God and follow it. The Eucharistic disclosure of Jesus is an invitation to discern the true bread that ensures eternal life.

Reflect:
We do meet some people who seem to be inhabiting a world different from ours. When we meet genuinely spiritual people or those who have passionately and “foolishly” [in a worldly sense] dedicated their life to some just cause, we say that they are marching to a different drum. In other words, they are people who have discerned something deeper and beyond the ordinary and perceive life from a higher angle and respond accordingly. Jesus invites us today to apply such discernment in understanding who he is, which would enable us to live life differently meriting eternity.

Pray:
Ask God for the gift of discernment of the divine in our everyday life.

Act:
Write out a brief reflection on what the Eucharist means for you.
